EA-18G

Question: Admiral Greenert, what is the timeline for the completion of this study?

Answer: The Navy's Assessment Directorate is conducting a study that will identify the required number of EA-18G's per Carrier Air Wing (CVW) based upon the requirements to conduct CVW mission sets and the unique capabilities of the EA-18G during Major Contingency Operations. Results are expected to be available in June, 2014.
